

OPS Revamps Price Tops Involving 100,000 Manufacturers

Many Goods To Increase Under Order

Washington (AP)—Price control chiefs revamped regulations affecting 100,000 manufacturers yesterday and said that generally higher price ceiling can be expected on many consumer goods as a result.

They suggested that Congress is responsible for what may happen.

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said the changes were necessitated by the Capehart amendment to the economic controls law, by which Congress required that price ceilings reflect most cost gains that occurred from the outbreak of the Korean war to last July 26.

This is the amendment which President Truman denounced as "an economic boobytrap" and which Senator Capehart (R-Ind) and other backers upheld as simple fairness.

The affected manufacturers produce a wide variety of things, such as processed foods, furniture, household appliances, farm machinery, chemicals, hardware, hand tools, machine tools and rubber, goods.

In other actions affecting consumers and the people who manufacture things for them:

One—The National Production authority (NPA) virtually "froze" the introduction of new auto models after next February 1. The same freeze would apply to makers of washing machines, refrigerators and similar appliances. The step was taken through an order reserving machine tools almost exclusively for military and defense supporting production. The action will not affect 1952 model cars, retooling for which was started by the manufacturers early this year.

Two—The Office on Price Stabilization (OPS) approved new price ceilings at wholesale for lamb, yearling lamb and mutton. It also permitted retailers to figure new ceilings weekly to reflect wholesale changes in the prices of lamb, mutton and veal. OPS officials said the net effect is expected to be higher prices in most butcher shops for lamb, mutton and veal. Veal accounts for about 7 per cent of the nation's meat; lamb and mutton for about 4 per cent.

DiSalle said the revisions carrying out the Capehart amendment "undoubtedly will result in some increases in manufacturers' ceilings and permit a generally higher level of prices."

At the same time, DiSalle told a news conference, there may be some price rollbacks for general manufacturers and machinery-makers who raised prices faster than costs after the Korean outbreak. There also may be rollbacks in fields where materials costs possibly may have declined since the general price freeze last January 26.

Manufacturers must calculate new ceilings and put them into effect not later than December 19.

Stockpiling Of Tin Suspended

Washington (AP)—The government yesterday halted the stockpiling of tin so that all available supplies can go to industry. It also announced further cuts will be made in civilian use of the metal.

The Defense Production administration, in announcing the action, said inability to obtain foreign tin at a "fair and reasonable price" was the reason.

Unofficially, metal sources said, Bolivia's refusal to sell at below $150 a pound was the problem.

DPA announced that orders will be issued immediately to reduce tin consumption. These will curtail tin plate—used in tin cans—and restrict the output of brass and bronze used in many hardware, furniture and other consumer and industrial products.

Cuts in the use of tin cans seem likely. Production now is scheduled at a record rate despite a 30 per cent curtailment in use of cans for less-essential items. Most food canners are using 100 per cent or more of their pre-Korea can consumption.

Poison Given To Hotel Waiter

Des Moines (AP)—A waiter quoted as claiming that unnamed persons gave him poisonous powder to put in the sugar at the big Des Moines hotel where he works was released from jail yesterday.

The waiter, Lewis Fulton, 40, was jailed Wednesday when he refused to answer questions while under subpoena in a secret investigation of the powder incident. Fulton said he feared he might suffer physical harm if he told his story under oath.

Joseph E. Whalen, manager of the Hotel Savery, turned over two envelopes of powder to authorities Sunday. He said Fulton voluntarily turned the powder over to the hotel and thus protected the public from possible harm.

Polk County Attorney Clyde E. Herring yesterday announced that a chemical analysis of the powder showed it was poisonous.

Truman Denies Offer Of Stepping Aside In Favor Of Eisenhower As Democratic Choice

Washington, (AP)—President Truman said yesterday "there's not a word of truth" in a published report that he had offered to step aside and support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1952.

Aides at Gen. Eisenhower's Supreme Allied headquarters in Europe also discounted the story, published in the New York Times.

Policeman Tags Wife's Car For Overtime Parking

Salina, Kas., (AP)—Mrs. Paul Froman drove downtown yesterday and parked her car while she did a little shopping.

She parked too long. An alert police officer gave her a ticket for overtime parking.

The patrolman was Paul Froman, Mrs. Froman's husband.

Truman Flies To Key West

Key West, Fla., (AP)—President Truman arrived in Florida yesterday to be greeted by a sweater-wearing turnout far smaller than the crowds which have welcomed him on nine previous visits.

A ground temperature of 63 degrees was reported as Mr. Truman's plane, the "Independence," landed at the Navy's Boca Chica airport here shortly before noon after an uneventful flight from Washington.

Mr. Truman got an unusual southern welcome at the airport, from White House correspondents who preceded him here in a commercially chartered plane. Most of the correspondents wore Confederate Army caps, black shoe strings and trick mustaches.

They were inspired by a recent presidential speech in Washington to a group of National Guardsmen, before whom the President recalled his "red-headed grandmother's" pro-southern sympathies during the war.

Seven Survive Superfort Crash

San Antonio, Tex., (AP)—Eight of 15 members of a B-29 Superfortress apparently were killed last night in a crash near here.

Maj. Russell Webb, public information officer at Kelly Air Force base, said seven of the crew members were known to be alive.

Mysterious Malady Affects Allied Soldiers In Korea, Causes Deaths Of 25 Americans

Tokyo, Friday (AP)—Allied Army physicians are trying to cope with a mystery malady—a deadly disease apparently borne to the battlefield from infected Red ranks in Korea.

The Japanese call it songo fever and kokka disease.

An undisclosed number of United Nations troops are being treated, but the disease is so new to western medicine that no sure cure has been developed.

(In Washington) The Army announced there have been 196 diagnosed cases and 25 deaths among American troops in Korea from June through the first week in November. The surgeon general's office emphasized that the fever has not approached anything like epidemic proportions.

Brig. Gen. William E. Shambora, Far East command surgeon, disclosed the existence of the disease among Allied forces yesterday. He said it bore a striking resemblance to epidemic hemorrhagic fever—discovered by the Japanese in Manchuria in 1939.

Japanese physicians believe the disease is caused by a tiny virus carried by field mice and transmitted to man by bites.

Anti-Communist North Koreans told Allied officers six weeks or more ago that the malady was present among troops of at least one Chinese army and had been contracted by some North Korean civilians. They did not know how prevalent it was.

(The censor declined to pass previously published quotations from North Koreans that the disease sometimes caused death within 24 hours and that the death rate appeared to be about 15 per cent.

(There was no suggestion in any dispatches that the disease among Allied troops might involve bacteriological warfare in any way. Apparently it was contracted from sick prisoners or refugees.)

The majority of cases affecting Allied soldiers were reported from the west-central front.

The symptoms were described as high fever, headaches, loss of appetite and yellowing of the skin.

General Shambora said sulfa and antibiotics had failed to stem the disease. However, blood transfusions from men who had recovered from the malady seemed to ease its severity, he added.

Shambora said some patients recover quickly, but others develop further symptoms. These include hemorrhages under the skin, around the eyes and internal organs. Kidneys are affected in some cases.

Country Editors Favor Ike But See HST Elected

Washington (AP)—A poll of 2,188 country editors showed yesterday (1) General Eisenhower is their No. 1 personal choice for president and (2) President Truman leads the field on the question of who actually will be elected. A majority thought Senator Taft of Ohio would be the Republican nominee.

Results of mailed ballots to weekly newspaper editors were reported by the Publishers' Auxiliary, a trade weekly published by the Western Newspaper union of Frankfurt, Ky.

Whether Vishinsky's proposal would revive their old argument was not known immediately. The Allied negotiators yesterday rejected a Communist proposal to fix the buffer zone immediately and permanently.

Conceding that a buffer zone should be based on the current battle line, which is mostly well inside North Korea, the Reds Wednesday proposed that agreement be reached on where that line is and it be firmly fixed. Each side would have a veto power over any subsequent changes proposed by the other.

Cold Spell Hits South

(By the Associated Press)
A November chill that slid down from the Arctic reached the southeastern third of the nation yesterday.

The northern tier of Florida counties had freezing weather overnight. Memphis, Tenn., had a record low for the date of 22 degrees—nine degrees below the old record set 55 years ago. Temperatures skidded to near zero in parts of Illinois and Missouri.

Frost extended as far south as Daytona Beach, in Florida, and another night of similar temperatures, or lower, was forecast for the area. A gradual warming was predicted for today.

Union, Mo., was one of the coldest spots in the nation with a morning low of two above. Vandalia, Ill., had a reading of three degrees.

A snow blanket covering much of the Midwest began vanishing under clear skies and rising temperatures in the afternoon.

Most of the nation had fair weather, except for light rain in New England and some snow flurries in the Great Lakes region.

Soviets Reject West's Arms Reduction Plan

Korea Hears Of Russia's Truce Plan

Munsan, Korea, Friday (AP)—Allied and Red truce subcommittees sat down again today in a wind-whipped tent at Panmunjom for a new attempt at breaking the Korean buffer zone deadlock.

They met at 11 a. m. (9 p. m., EST, Thursday) even as the news of a new Russian proposal for a cease-fire was spreading across Korea.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andre Vishinsky proposed in Paris a halt to the fighting within 10 days, withdrawal of Allied forces to the old Parallel 38 border and withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea within three months.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson had challenged the Russians to work sincerely for peace in Korea. Speaking at the U. N. General Assembly meeting in Paris, Acheson said an armistice "could open the door to broader consultations on other aspects of the far eastern situation."

The Vishinsky proposal could affect the truce talks, which have dragged on for four months.

The Communists and Allies have agreed roughly that the battle line will determine the cease-fire line, but they haven't pinned it down precisely.

The Allies have insisted on keeping the line for the most part north of Parallel 38. The Reds last month abandoned their demand that the buffer line be drawn along 38.

Whether Vishinsky's proposal would revive their old argument was not known immediately.

Greater Air Power Looms

Chicago, (AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley, in a major address on the military strategy of the future, said yesterday the Joint Chiefs of Staff agree "we must buy substantially more air power this year."

"Since America's policy is 'peace and not war,' the joint chiefs' chairman declared, America is at a strategic disadvantage which must be met by preparing for any eventuality.

Addressing the closing session of the American Petroleum Institute's 31st annual meeting, Bradley said:

"Our plans must be made under the strategic disadvantage of reacting to the enemy's attack. Our strategy must meet the various capabilities of our potential enemy, and any method of attack which he might choose; and must meet the attack at the time and place of his choosing."

Bradley stated air power alone "can never be decisive in total war," but "the air battle must be won if a war is to be won."

He hinted that atomic artillery and guided missiles still are in the experimental stage when he said:

"In spite of all the new developments in the field of atomic energy and the various military applications, the airplane continues to be the best method of projecting the power of the atom to the battlefield, and to the heart of any large land-mass nation."

Iran May Sell Oil To West

Washington (AP)—Iran was reported yesterday to have offered to sell some 70 per cent of its nationalized oil production at a discount to the West, as part of a settlement of its bitter oil dispute with Britain.

Informed officials who gave out this word said the Iranians insist on reserving the remaining 30 per cent for sale to other buyers at a greater profit.

THE SIXTH U. N. GENERAL ASSEMBLY is opened by French President Vincent Auriol (bottom) as he addresses the delegates in Paris. At left (rear) is Secretary General Trygve Lie and at right is Nazrallah Entezam, of Iran, outgoing president of the United Nations. In his address President Auriol extended an indirect invitation to Truman, Stalin and Churchill to come to Paris to discuss the world crisis.

U. N. Troops Repulse Attacks In Below-Freezing Weather; American Jets Battle MIGs

U. S. Eighth Army Hqs., Korea, Friday, (AP)—Allied infantrymen, fighting in sub-freezing weather, beat off a series of small Communist attacks last night and early today along the western front where the Reds were reported massing tank forces.

A white frost covered the front. The temperature had dropped to a chilling 24 degrees.

The Reds were building up their forces in the center as well as the west. An Allied briefing officer said the Communists were believed reinforcing their battered line with a new army corps—about 30,000 troops.

The pre-dawn Communist thrusts west and northwest of Yonchon today heralded another day of fierce skirmishes and mounting pressure.

Chinese troops supported by tanks and artillery struck Thursday across a wide section of the front, but the Allies beat off every assault.

Allied planes last night dropped 25 quarter-ton bombs on Sangnyong, Red supply center on the Imjin river northwest of Yonchon.

Night-flying Superforts bombed Communist airfields at Taechon, Namsi and Sariwon in northwest Korea and rail yards at Mugae, Masan and Sariwon. Five Superforts hit Red front line positions in support of Allied ground troops.

Earlier Thursday, 60 American Sabre jets tangled with 190 Russian-type MIGs in three flaring battles over northwest Korea. One MIG was shot down.

Disarmament Conference Suggested

Paris, (AP)—Soviet Russia rejected the West's new arms reductions plan in the United Nations yesterday. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky clashed head-on with Secretary of State Acheson in a debate which left few delegates hopeful of conciliation.

Vishinsky dismissed as ludicrous, trifling and spurious a joint American-British-French resolution embodying the proposed fool-proof regulation of armed forces and arms, including atomic weapons.

He proposed instead a four-point resolution which would provide for a world disarmament conference by next June 1.

The U. S. Secretary of State had appealed for support of the three-power plan, which President Truman commended to the U. N. in a broadcast address from Washington Wednesday night.

The diplomatic duel between Vishinsky and Acheson showed no lessening of East-West tensions. Each accused the other's government of responsibility for the world arms race, the Korean war and kindred problems.

They agreed on only one thing: the world wants peace.

Both Acheson and Vishinsky ended their speeches with appeals for peace—but both showed clearly they were poles apart on what they meant by peace.

Acheson outlined the western plan yesterday morning and urged a program of arms reduction without "catchwords and tricks." He called on the Russians to give the word for a halt to the Korean conflict and said a settlement of the Korean problem could open the door to broader consultations on other aspects of the Far Eastern situation.

Acheson made it plain the United States will not begin on a program of arms limitation, which would eventually include a count of American and Russian atomic bombs if good faith prevailed, until the Korean war is stopped and existing world problems settled.

Vishinsky went to the rostrum when the assembly reconvened in the afternoon and said the big powers of the West had not only given birth to a mouse, but to a "dead mouse."

"I could hardly sleep all night last night because I could not keep from laughing," he said. "Even from this rostrum I can't hold back my laughter."

Vishinsky ranged up and down every policy of the United States and the West and found nothing good about any of them, especially the North Atlantic Treaty organization. He then offered a four-point resolution calling for:

One—A finding by the General Assembly that participation in the "aggressive Atlantic bloc" and establishment of foreign naval, army and air bases in any part of the world is incompatible with the principles of the U. N.

Two—A cease-fire in Korea, with troops to be withdrawn in 10 days from the 38th parallel and all foreign troops to be withdrawn completely from Korea in three months.

Three—To ask all countries, in and out of the U. N., to scrutinize at a world conference the question of the reduction of armed forces and armaments and to recommend that this conference convene as soon as possible, at least before June 1, 1952.

Four—A big five peace pact to which all other peace-loving states would adhere.

Carl Stettler Wounded In Korean Action

Pfc. Carl R. (Esso) Stettler, son of Mrs. Ida M. Stettler, 198 Grove St., East Stroudsburg, was wounded in action in Korea on October 14.

A letter written by the young GI from a base hospital in Korea reached his mother before official notification was received from Maj. Gen. William E. Bergen, adjutant general of the Army.

Stettler wrote that he was hit in both arms and both legs during combat.

He entered service last March and received training at Fort Campbell, Ky., and Fort Benning, Ga. Stettler was moved overseas for combat duty early in September.

He was attached to the Fifth Cavalry.

Rate Increase Is Suspended

Harrisburg, (AP)—The Public Utility commission yesterday suspended until next May 12 a $2,730,000 rate proposed for 2,416 industrial and commercial customers of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co.

Residential rates are not involved in the six-month suspension.

The PUC ordered an investigation into the company's claim of the necessity for the rate boost.

The P.P.&L. asked that base rates for industrial and commercial use be increased by $3,858,000 a year. A new fuel adjustment clause would reduce that figure by $1,128,000, leaving a $2,730,000 net increase.

The fuel clause provides for raising or lowering rates in line with coal prices.

About 140 firms, most of them from the Wilkes-Barre and Lancaster areas, have filed protests against the increase.

Sinatra Curt With Reporters At Miami, Fla

Miami, Fla., (AP)—Frank Sinatra and his bride, Ava Gardner, were spotted by a Miami Herald reporter and photographer yesterday strolling on the sand behind the Green Heron hotel on Miami Beach.

When the newsmen called to them, the couple turned and walked hastily back to the hotel. Before they went in, Ava turned and smiled at the newsmen. Frank ignored them.

"Can we have a couple of minutes," the reporter asked.

"I'll give you 30 seconds," Sinatra said and began puffing angrily on a pipe.

"We've made no plans," he said. "We don't know how long we're going to stay here. The weather is nice here. That's about it."

As they turned to go, Ava said: "Thank you."

Great Number Of Alcoholics Laid To Prohibition

London, (AP)—The British Medical Journal said today that countries dominated by "the Puritan ethic" show the greatest amount of drunkenness.

"It is bound to be found in countries such as the USA and Sweden, which have experimented in prohibition," the Journal said.

"These two countries head the list in the first report on alcoholism by the World Health organization as having the highest proportional number of alcoholics, Italy—the great wine-drinking country—having the lowest."

Crowe Maintains States Must Carry Out Pact To Preserve Water Supplies In Delaware Basin

The need for carrying out the four-state pact covering construction of dams and reservoirs in the Delaware River Basin north of Bushkill as proposed by Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin was described to members of Stroudsburg Rotary club yesterday by Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe.

The Monroe senator said In-codel, an organization formed by states of New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania had banded together to preserve the water resources of the Delaware River basin many years ago.

Out of this cooperative organization, came the current project to erect the dams to provide drinking water for metropolitan centers of the states and to catch flood waters which now run into the sea.

By retaining these waters, Senator Crowe said, not only drinking water and water for industrial purposes will be available, but Delaware stream flows can be maintained at normalcy during drought periods and salinity in the lower Delaware can be cut down.

Introduced by H. G. Sanborn Jr., Senator Crowe said the oyster industry in lower Delaware and many great industries are hard-hit by encroachment of sea water when the Delaware is at low ebb.

He noted that higher river stages are also essential to float barges carrying iron ore to the huge new Fairless steel plant now being erected at Morrisville, Pa. on the Delaware.

Senator Crowe's talk supplemented a movie dealing with the grave import of water to humans, their business and industrial operations.

Scenic Sense

Along Pennsylvania's highways are 22 places that are labeled, with rustic signs, "Scenic Area." There's one just outside Stroudsburg on Route 611.

It may not be generally known, however, that these areas are kept scenic through the efforts of interested private citizens. An outfit called the Scenic Area Improvement Committee is the medium. Sponsored and supported by various state-wide organizations, it polices the scenic strips.

Using education and persuasion, it has gradually cut down the number of signs and other roadside blemishes in these areas.

The "Hotel Herald" reported the other day that only 287 signs of all kinds were found in a recent survey of the scenic areas. It added that, when the protective movement was launched in 1940, 2079 signs were counted.

The Scenic Area Improvement Committee, and the signposters who have gone along with it, are to be complimented on a job well done.

But the presence of even 287 signs, after 11 years of education and persuasion, indicates that there are a few characters who would post signs in a cathedral if given half a chance.

And on other sections of highway, sign-posting is a free-for-all in which few think about preserving the landscape for the traveling public.

There is nothing basically wrong with an attractive signboard, properly placed. In some cases, signboards hide ugly bits of terrain.

What this state needs is the roadside zoning that has been proposed for many years by the Pennsylvania Roadside Council, another voluntary organization.

Let signboards be erected where they will do no violence to landscape or safety. Keep them out of other places, along with hot dog stands, auto junk yards and other things that make many of our roadsides ugly.

Regulate or eliminate the little metal or paper signs that are tacked to trees and fence posts. It is doubtful if, in this day of speed, they do the advertisers any good.

While co-operation has worked wonders in the scenic areas, where anyone can see that signs are out of place, regulations are needed elsewhere. They have been for a long time.

Just a Gesture

On the last day of its 1951 session, Congress passed over President Truman's veto a bill to provide $1600 toward the payment of an auto for each veteran of World War II or the Korean War who lost his sight or a limb.

In his veto message, the President did not object to the principle in the bill, but disapproved the proposal as Congress wrote it because he said it didn't meet the test of the veterans' rehabilitation program.

Congress, with a good deal of patriotic oratory, overrode the veto.

Then Congress went home without appropriating any funds to carry out the provisions of the bill.

Try And Stop Me

For a glimpse behind the scenes of a happily married couple on Park Avenue, we carry you to their boudoir, where the wife is yanking her husband out of bed at noon, snarling, "I know all about your philosophy of eight hours work and eight hours sleep—but they are not supposed to be the same eight hours, brother! And don't give me your stock answer that I'm holy-toity, either." Friend Husband runs his hands through his rumpled and thinning locks, and answers weakly, "Humph! You may still be holy, but nobody'd ever accuse you of seeing toity again."

Frank Yerby, author of a string of best-sellers, has been visiting Greece lately. To his publisher he sent a postcard depicting a Greek statue, noting thereon, "I'm sure the model was a publisher too. You'll observe he's holding his head in his hands."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—There are moments now when Director Mervyn LeRoy has a preoccupied air. He admits he's tired of talking about "Quo Vadis." He thinks his nerves will need a couple of years to calm down—and that directing it probably has shortened his life by a year.

"The picture should win an Academy award for no sleep," Mervyn asserted. At lunch the other day, this dark-complexioned, quickwitted veteran of 25 years' directing described the headaches encountered on the biggest film of his career.

The story of early Christians, starring Robert Taylor and Deborah Kerr, was filmed entirely in its locale, Rome. It cost, LeRoy said, nearly $7,000,000. M-G-M is springing this, its big, three-hour-long bid for Academy honors, in November.

Troubles, Mervyn said, included strikes, heat, rain, animals, and directing as many as 30,000 extras daily for a week. The people were assembled in a studio-built replica of the Circus Maximus, a stadium where 300 Christians are briefly shown burning. It's where lions, assembled from European carnivals, circuses, and zoos, devour other victims (30 or 40 dummies with meat built in to make them appealing).

A banquet hall too big for a sound stage was built in the open. Rain held up shooting. Later in the 9½ month shooting period, Rome had its hottest summer in 30 years. "We had six hospital tents, 30 nurses and two doctors," Mervyn recalled. "An average of 130 people a day were passing out." For close-ups, LeRoy would get his camera rolling, blot the perspiration off Bob Taylor's or Deborah's face, and then jump aside.

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

The Enveloping Cold War
If what our military and diplomatic experts say is true then it is essential for us to hold western Europe and the Mediterranean countries on our side. This must include Spain as well as Turkey and Greece; the Arab countries and Israel as well as the North Atlantic ones. Although this effort has already cost us greatly, it has not been very successful. Most of the countries of North Europe are sitting on their hands, hopeful that they will get whatever benefits accrue without much labor, productivity or sacrifice.

Two wars in which this country came to the aid of Western Europe, have produced the historic situation of American responsibility for the next war. And that gives each European country bargaining power with us.

There may be another side to this question; perhaps the continental Europeans cannot understand what we mean or what we want. They understand Stalin. His presentation of his case is clear-cut: He seeks to establish a universal Socialist state within which existing nations will be permitted a degree of autonomy. His alternative is a Constant condition of war and the preparation for war, with attendant costs and disorders.

Even his definitions of Socialism are clear, at any rate to a European, because they are based on the Leninist modification of Marxism as interpreted by Stalin. The Marxist basis is, in Europe, more than a century old and is understood. Whereas to Americans Marxism may be confusing, a European high school student can expound dialectical materialism and will be for or against it.

Thus far, no American has stated the case for the United States in terms understandable to an educated European or, for that matter, to an educated Asiatic. The only European who has made clear the western opposition to Soviet Russia and to Communism has been the Pope.

Again this needs explanation, particularly when so many Catholics and Protestants in the United States are concerned with 16th century problems rather than with the urgencies of the year 1951.

To most Americans the Communists pose an economic question: Government ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange versus private ownership. But two wars, various depressions, revolutions, inflations and other disasters have forced even upon unwilling Europeans Socialism in varying degrees, so that private enterprise, capitalism, has not the meaning or the value that it has for Americans. Furthermore, as the European looks upon the United States, this country is marked by an increasing Socialism, not a product of mass revolution, but imposed by government using the mechanism of taxation, subsidies and war controls.

The struggle then becomes, for the European, philosophic and theological. It has to do with man's place in the cosmos; with the relations of man to his environment; with whether man is a creature of God, created by him, or whether he is the end result of specialization in a biological process. Whereas Christianity insists upon absolutes in morals, Marxism insists that man is controlled by an ever-changing environment and that therefore there can be no absolutes.

Translated into political terms, this struggle might be as between a free man, possessing free will and decision, versus the man who has been mastered by the state which controls his environment.

(Each side uses the word, "Democracy," falsely and for different reasons. It may be omitted from any serious discussion of the problem.)

From this standpoint, the Pope represents the most clear and articulate statement of the case for a moral versus a mastered society. No one else has stated the anti-Marxist case as understandably or as correctly.

In America's battle against Soviet Russia, then, Marxism is the principal issue. Unfortunately for us, many of those who are engaged in fighting our cause are either Marxists themselves or do not understand Marxism and therefore deal with it incorrectly. If our propaganda agencies have failed in Europe, or have not succeeded as well as might have been expected, it is because they have not been able to approach this problem from the philosophic and theological side. They keep shouting the word "Democracy," which means so many different things that it has become an element of confusion rather than of understanding.

When President Truman appointed General Mark Clark as ambassador to the Vatican, he could have made this clear had he understood the struggle, one side of which he captains. Instead, he has raised a political issue in the United States which can only strengthen the Marxist and therefore the anti-American forces in Europe.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—Either Edward W. Barrett, assistant secretary of state for public affairs, doesn't understand the words he uses or he is playing loose with the truth.

When Frank Stout, the Scranton Tribune reporter, wrote a series of articles criticizing the administration propaganda machine operated by the State department, Barrett labeled them "Unsubstantiated." Stout's charges against Barrett's office are serious. They were the result of an investigation by a trained newsmen and printed in a reputable newspaper after careful examination by competent editors.

Barrett's charge that Stout's articles were bereft of facts is equally serious and the Scranton Tribune editors should demand a congressional investigation.

Representative John J. Rooney, New York Democrat, is head of the house sub-committee on State department appropriations. He has a way of wringing the facts out of Barrett's fancy flights of rhetoric.

Let's examine Stout's findings in the light of Barrett's charge that they are without factual foundation. Stout wrote:

"I know of one case where a worker in a supervisory capacity was so lacking in experience and tact that the unit in this person's charge was losing its best personnel. The supervisors decided finally that something had to be done. But because experience and tact were the touchy problem they could find no direct way to better the situation. The last suggestion I heard was that they dream up a new project for their difficult supervisor and transfer him to that."

Stout worked 8 months in the State department. He knows the man's name and his job. Congressman Rooney can ascertain it by asking. It's important for the reason that Barrett told Rooney during State department appropriation hearings for fiscal 1952 that:

"I might say, Mr. Chairman, that we are extremely proud of the caliber of the manpower that we have in this program and have brought into this program in recent months. We are particularly proud of the top-flight men in the various mediums of communications, the top-flight experts who have joined up with us."

Certainly a supervisor must be a top-flight man. It's an important job, with the pay ranging up to $11,000 annually. But let's get on with some more quotes from Stout about Barrett's experts:

"One of the principal reasons why the American people are not getting nearer their money's worth in the propaganda program is the fact that the State department international press division is dominated by former office of War Information workers. The Office of War Information was merged into the State department in 1946. Many of its memorandum-writing experts held on to their government jobs, and today hold the top positions in the IPD."

"In one section alone, former OWI men hold virtually every top post from general manager to 10 or 12 strikes, once for two hours to protest American army for Korea. But the Italian people, LeRoy said, "were just wonderful to us." There were technical difficulties. Power lines, being set up differently from Hollywood hook-ups, caused cameras to run backward for the first three days. Producer Sam Ziebalist sweated out the troubles with LeRoy, who lost 22 pounds. The director took sleeping pills nightly, nerve pills daily, and vitamin shots every three days.

Mervyn's directing a musical, "Lovely to Look At," now. It's so much easier, he says, "I could direct it by telephone."

Walter Winchell on Broadway

Winchell

Peddling His Papers
Gen. Eisenhower's "positively not" to the press (on his aspirations for 1952) didn't mean posulately. The Big Story is what happened in a hotel near Grand Central Station the night before Ike met the President.

Governor Dewey and Ike secretly met and discussed plenty. Dewey considers himself titular chief of the GOP and assured Eisenhower he was the one most of them wanted. That Mr. Taft had some strong support but not enough. That a few tycoons were violently against him (Ike), but they would fall in line.

The General agreed to agree "before Jan. 1st."

Many Washington correspondents believe Ike won't be a candidate. They offer statements he made prior to the '48 elections. But what they neglect to consider is a fact in the public records. That Ike also declared: "No man could refuse to serve as President in time of national crisis."

Earlier this year Eisenhower stated: "The country has not been in such grave peril since the darkest days of the Civil War."

The English edition of Pravda, probably bored with World Events, takes up the never-dull subject of Winchell again, as for example: "He began life in the Harlem underworld. As a child he played with Herman Rosen- thal, who later became a horrible murderer known as 'Gyp, the Blood'."

New York editors and reporters will enjoy that double-take. Herman Rosenthal was slain about 40 years ago when he was schooling at P. S. 184 . . . Gyp, the Blood was one of four gunmen who assassinated him.

The avowed and admitted Nazi pianist, Walter Gieseking, deported after reminders about his Hitler help appeared in this col'm, made violent anti-American statements in Peron's Argentina recently . . . Carnegie Hall habitués, who sympathized with his plight during our attacks, can save their apologies.

The B-way Bookies, who offered 7 to 5 on Sharkey to win, expected him to enjoy a plurality of at least 200,000 . . . If you wanted Halley (the winner), you had to lay those odds . . . These are the same betting commissioners who have guessed wrong in every election since '48 . . . The bookies' big business came from the $2 bettors and others, who couldn't go to the tracks in time to bet on The Daily Double . . . Now that all bookies are under Federal focus, Tropical Park is installing 20 extra machines to handle the take on The DD . . . At Garden State, the other very cold matinee (as the horses ankled out of the paddock), jockey on down the line."

If there ever was a Red-ridden discredited, hopelessly inept wartime agency of the government Elmer Davis' OWI was it.

Stout goes on in his articles to quote from various official and private investigations of the Voice of America and other branches of propaganda bossed by Barrett. In each case the investigators turned in critical reports. In one instance, Stout noted, "some 400 men and women in Washington are pouring out hundreds of thousands of words every month for foreign newspapers and other publications, but no one has yet proved whether the stuff is being used abroad, and if it is, is anyone reading it or believing it?"

Barrett says this is part of Stout's unsubstantiated report. Barrett has been wrong before. If he is once again wrong, he ought to have the decency to resign and recommend Stout for his job, before Rooney wastes his time proving it.

Lindberg got a huge howl when he yelled at the shivering people: "Anybody who comes to a track on a day like this must be broke."

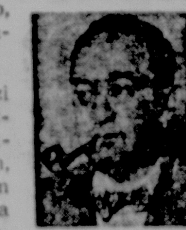

Senator Kefauver recently stated that he was against the 10% tax on gamblers, because it would mean the government was recognizing the gambling profession . . . What the Senator didn't say was that the gov't right now collects income tax on a gambler's winnings . . . The plain fact is that the gov't is a gambler's partner—if he wins—and the Dept. of Justice is his prosecutor—if it catches a gambler doing his business across State lines . . . The crowning contradiction is that the same gov't (which would share a gambler's profits) will also prosecute him for NOT paying his taxes . . . The moral of this study in outrageous hypocrisy: At least 30 million Americans are the real gamblers . . . The professionals are merely those who fix the odds.

Senator Taft probably doesn't know it but Michigan Democrats are delighted with the campaign ammunition they are getting from Mrs. Mary Streit, a member of that State Republican Committee . . . She brought in propagandist Allen Zoll (whose outfit—American Patriots—was listed subversive by the Justice Dept.) to speak at a GOP meeting . . . At another recent meeting in Mrs. Streit's home, racial and religious hate pamphlets were peddled to guests.

I don't think it is exactly h o m e s i c k n e s s that makes people do it—but they do it nevertheless.

In Tulsa, Oklahoma, a truck driver drove his beer truck right alongside of us and hollered over, "Where are you from, Buddy? I'm from Waterbury."

He had noticed the Connecticut license plates on our car.

The light changed. We went on.

At the next red light he was alongside us again.

"Ever been in Waterbury?" he asked. "Great town."

Before I had a chance to answer the light changed again. So he'll never know what I think of Waterbury.

In Fort Worth, Texas, once again we stopped for the red light.

It was sort of a poor district of little shops.

A fellow was standing in the doorway of his store—perhaps waiting for customers to come in.

"Westport."

"Oh, I'm from Hartford. Came here fifteen years ago, but—"

I didn't hear what was coming after the "but." The light had changed again and on we went.

In Dallas we stopped at a lovely motel. The town was crowded and we couldn't get into any of the downtown hotels.

And, by the way, when you see a really nice motel on the way, don't ever be afraid to stay there. This one was TOPS!

It had a wonderful restaurant attached to it and there was a swimming pool, bellboy service and plenty of parking space.

We had dinner in the restaurant.

Amish Explain School Views

Harrisburg (AP) — A delegation of Amish parents yesterday outlined to Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction, their reasons for refusing to send their children to high school.

Dr. Haas said they based their objections on two reasons: The older children are needed on the farm; outside influences created by other high school students would tend to draw the Amish boys and girls from their faith. The public instruction chief held a closed conference with 15 Amish parents from Mifflin, Lancaster and Lebanon counties.

A measure, sponsored by Rep. Harry W. Price (R-Mifflin), would lower the compulsory school age to conform with Amish demands. Passed by the House, it is now in the Senate.

20 Bids Opened For Construction Of Steel At Signal Depot

No Contracts To Be Let For At Least Week

Philadelphia (AP) — Twenty bids were opened yesterday for construction of $1,800,000 of steel at the new U. S. Signal Corps depot at Tobyhanna, Pa., but contracts won't be awarded for at least a week.

C. A. Cruse, district chief of the U. S. Army Engineers here under whose supervision the project is being constructed, said the complexity of the construction—there were 19 different items on which the 20 steel contractors could bid—resulted in about 200 quotations. The steel work involved construction of 15 buildings for which foundations are now being laid.

Actual work on erecting the steel framework and joists is not expected to begin before March, 1952, and possibly later. Each bidder specified that he must first get government allocations for the steel.

Gabriel Steel Co., of New York City, submitted the low bid for erection of the steel joists on the 15 structures. The bid, divided into four parts, totaled $111,878, and it was the lowest offer on each of the items.

The other 15 items concerned fabricating and structural steel work on the 15 buildings—each item for a different structure. Cruse estimated that a total of 8,404 tons would be needed in the buildings and bids ranged as low as $159.86 to nearly $400 a ton.

Low bidders on various items were Simon Holland & Son, Inc., Brooklyn, N. Y.; Schaech Steel Construction, Inc., Hillside, N. J.; Easton (Pa.) Structural Steel, Inc., and Reading (Pa.) Steel Products, Inc.

Cruse said every bid would be studied thoroughly before any contracts would be awarded. Discounts on prompt payments, time of delivery of the finished product and other considerations would be studied, Cruse said.

Governor Fine Fixes Monday As Holiday

Monday, November 12 has been set aside as a legal holiday by proclamation from the office of Gov. John S. Fine in Harrisburg.

Armistice day, November 11, falls on Sunday this year and, in accordance with House Concurrent Resolution 1369, approved April 23, 1935, Governor Fine is empowered to designate an additional day as a legal holiday.

The Governor called upon the citizens of the Commonwealth to "observe this memorable anniversary in their places of worship, and with patriotic ceremonies in schools and other places of public assembly."

State officials have been directed to "display the Flag of the United States on all State buildings" on the legal holiday. Citizens were likewise urged to do so.

Parents Ask Quick Action

Sciota — Twenty-three parents attending a meeting of the Hamilton Township Civic League at the Odd Fellows hall here last night, stated they would be willing to withdraw their children from the Polk Valley and Sciota schools unless something is done immediately about insanitary conditions at those schools.

The insanitary conditions, object of fire from the league for the past 60 days, have been greatly increased by flooding creeks and resultant serious contaminations of large areas in and around the school grounds during the past two days, they said.

In response to repeated discussions of the issue by members, the township school board stated they intended to take the matter up with the district engineer at Wilkes-Barre. Possible assistance from the engineer was also implied, in suggesting correct action in the future.

The two and a half inch rainfall Wednesday had caused outdoor privies at Polk Valley to become even more flooded than before. The Sciota school was forced to close yesterday at 2:30 because of dampness and excessive cold conditions.

Following the report of the school's forced shutdown yesterday afternoon one of the newly-elected members of the township school board donated a slightly-used stove in good condition to the school for use until a "new school is built."

The subject of a new consolidated school for the township again became a burning issue last night when Daniel McGuire, owner of a tract of land between Saylorsburg and Sciota, offered seven acres of his land for use as a new site for a consolidated school. The league made a motion to accept the site as "one of those being considered" for recommendation to county officials.

Last night's meeting was marked by fiery debate and heated discussion from the floor. Questions were fired at members of the old board who, in turn, attempted to answer them to the best of their ability. Last night's crowd was the largest since the league's formation.

Most of the discussion and, in past months, most of the dissension, has centered around the question of the board's tardiness in taking action on the school construction problem.

School directors who had been elected in Tuesday's elections were introduced to league members at the meeting.

Donald DeOtte, first vice president of the league, presided in the Winter Forecasting:

If one forecaster knows what he is talking about people will be wise to begin putting in surplus fuel stocks against frigid weather.

It is his belief the Northeastern part of the nation will start to feel a real cold spell in mid-November, that will continue through December and return in February. He also predicts heavy snows the last two weeks of this month, through December and again in February. As for January, the New Englander says Jack Frost will not be on the rampage to any great extent.

His prognostications are at variance with those made by some other experts or so-called experts—those who say an open Winter is coming. To say who is right and who is wrong is a task we have no intention of taking on.

Burrows, Kist Guest Speakers At Middle Smithfield School

Minisink Hills—Student government officials were urged to remember the principles of "self-control, self-discipline" and the "American way of life" in an address here yesterday by Ralph O. Burrows, principal of East Stroudsburg High school.

The address was delivered at the installation of newly-elected student officials in Middle Smithfield school's rigidly realistic student government.

Burrows emphasized student government as "one of the most important functions of the school today" and credited similar experiments with having "helped to develop character in the student, thus preparing him for his eventual role as a citizen."

Also speaking before the group was Jack Kist, athletic coach and instructor in driver education at the East Stroudsburg school.

Kist's remarks were confined to the Safety patrol, members of which were being inducted at the same time.

Over nine thousand children are killed every year, Kist said; due to accidents where there are no safety patrols. The necessity for and importance of the patrols could not be overemphasized, he continued.

"The job of the safety patrol should be to both safeguard children and to make them aware of the many dangers they face in dealing with traffic," Kist also stressed the idea that the patrol is one of the most important jobs in a school today.

Following Kist's talk, James Harron, adviser to the traffic squad, read the rules of the safety patrol. The set of regulations had been drawn up at a previous meeting of the patrol along with plans for patrolling of school grounds.

Yesterday's program was opened with a Bible reading by Rita Fish, president of the student government with the band playing the hymn "Abide With Me" immediately after the reading. Eugene King led a flag salute and the audience joined with the band in singing the national anthem.

Joseph Kulick, principal of the Middle Smithfield school, gave the results of the school election which was followed by Burrows address:

absence of Rev. Clyde Levergood, pastor of the Cherry Valley Methodist church, who has in the past acted as mediator for the meetings.

Board Rejects Resignation Of Secretary

Resignation as secretary of the Stroudsburg school directors tendered last night by Mrs. LeRoy Koehler was rejected by the board with a request that she continue her services in that capacity until her present term expires.

Mrs. Koehler has served the school district capably as secretary. She was defeated for re-election to a new term as school director at Tuesday's general election.

The board of school directors will meet for annual re-organization on Monday, December 3.

Directors extended use of the auditorium to Loyal Order of Moose for the customary $50 fee, plus custodian fee, for some Tuesday in December.

Jewish Charities organization was granted use of the auditorium for their all-star benefit show.

Use of the athletic field was granted Chamber of Commerce and Businessmen's association as starting point for the Christmas balloon parade on December 10.

Ray Albertson was named substitute custodian for Edwin Kemmerer, who has been granted a leave of absence because of illness until January 1.

Veterans of Foreign Wars basketball team was granted use of the gymnasium under same conditions as last year.

Parties Select Convention Site

Chicago, (AP) — The Republican and Democratic parties yesterday chose Chicago's International Amphitheatre for their 1952 national political conventions.

They chose the 23,000-seat amphitheatre because of its television facilities.

Chairmen Guy G. Gabrielson of the Republican party and Frank E. McKinney of the Democratic party said "television was the most important single factor" in the choice of the amphitheatre over the 25,000-capacity Chicago stadium.

Other factors, McKinney said, are economy and the comfort of air conditioning with the sacrifice of not over 2,000 seats.

Mikels Tells VFW Group Persons May Donate Blood Once Every Nine Weeks

The Blood Bank committee of the VFW met last night at the organization's home office for the purpose of planning a campaign for B-day (blood day) December 20.

Discussion consisted mainly of a resume of past campaign strategy and the introduction of new material distributed by the national Department of Defense.

LeRoy Mikels, county chairman of the Red Cross Blood Donor committee, in response to a question from the audience, explained that most persons may give blood once every nine weeks if they so desire, but not more than five times in any one yearly period. The giving of blood has no harmful effect on the donor under normal circumstances.

As a part of this year's campaign the committees plan to distribute posters throughout the county, giving complete information on time and place of collection and name of place where pledge cards may be obtained.

Others scheduled to attend the meeting are Louis L. Kaufman, elected to a county court judgeship, and James F. Malone, who won the district attorney post. Neither had the support of the county GOP organization.

All But Impossible to Believe!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

It is very difficult to believe—but, each month, there are literally thousands of people who pay as much for their motor cars as it would cost them to buy Cadillacs . . . and, yet, they don't get Cadillacs.

As we said, this is very hard to believe—but the reasons for it make it more or less understandable.

In the first place, a great many people simply don't know what a Cadillac costs. They don't understand that the lowest-priced Cadillac actually costs less than certain models produced by numerous other manufacturers.

They only know that Cadillac is the world's most renowned motor car—and they assume, from this, that it must also be exclusively priced.

Too, some people get discouraged because they can't walk in and order a Cadillac and get immediate delivery—as they can with so many other makes of cars.

This, too, is largely due to a failure to get all the facts and think them through to the inevitable conclusion.

You have to wait a while for a Cadillac because so many people want one—and want it so badly that they are willing to wait for it. And that, in turn, is because Cadillac is recognized everywhere as the Standard of the World.

So if you want a Cadillac—and research indicates that a vast percentage of motorists do—come in and talk with us about it.

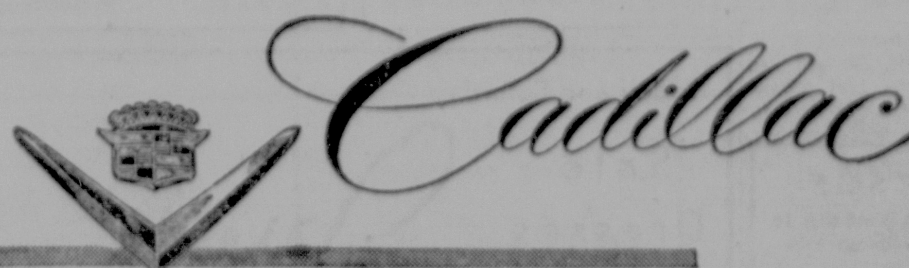

We'll give you the facts concerning comparative costs. And we will also talk frankly with you about delivery dates, so you may know about what to anticipate.

You really owe it to yourself to do this. For, surely, you don't want to pay the price of a Cadillac—and still not get one!

If we already have your order for a Cadillac—stand firm in your conviction—for each day brings you closer to your heart's desire.

It is true, of course, that you can get quicker delivery on other makes of cars. But, in all the world, there is no other car like Cadillac.

So be patient—and you will have your reward!

Anna Logans Fruit Cake Cut-Up Mon.

The Anna Logan society of the General hospital will meet Monday night, November 12, at the Stroudsburg Methodist church when members and guests will cut up the ingredients for the homemade fruit cake which the auxiliary will sell for the benefit of the General hospital.

Mrs. Robert Miller will preside at a 15-minute business session which will begin promptly at 7 instead of the usual hour, so that more time can be devoted to the "Kitchen Patrol" with Mrs. Louise Mansbach, co-chairman of the fruit cake committee, in charge of "KP" duty.

Mrs. John Stanford, assistant treasurer of the society is acting as chairman of the fruit cake project, and has requested that they need an electric mixer an hour or two each night. She has asked that anyone having one available call her.

The women will be baking the cakes over a period of several days and have asked members to sign up for definite periods of service, either afternoon or night.

Mrs. Merle C. Ostrom will be in charge of wrapping and labeling the cakes, and will take telephone orders for fruit cake at Stroudsburg 2935. Mrs. John Frank, Tel. 749-J, will take orders for East Stroudsburg residents. Fruit cakes are being baked in 1½, 2, 3, and 5 pound sizes, and there has been no rise in price.

Members and friends may order the birthday calendars from Mrs. William Thomas or Mrs. Melvin Fetterhoff, co-chairmen. The calendars will be for sale on or before December 1.

A committee has been appointed to represent the society at the next hospital board meeting when they will decide how to spend the monies now on hand from the dedication program booklet, of which Mrs. Robert Miller was chairman. Mrs. Ray Price, of the Barrett auxiliary, was co-chairman. Other funds came from the National Hospital Day dance sponsored by Anna Logan with Mrs. John Stanford, and Mrs. Neil Josephson, co-chairman and Mrs. T. I. Metzger, treasurer. The society plans to repeat the dance annually as one of their projects on or near the date of National Hospital day.

Refreshments will be served on Monday night by the team of which Mrs. Robert Schell is captain.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Our women's organizations can think of more ingenious ways of raising money—and giving value for money received, too. Just make a survey of the ways listed on the social page today.

Bake sales, of course; Thanksgiving dinners before and on Thanksgiving itself for the hunters of the West End at least; and homemade holiday fruit cake—all in the food line.

Then there are rummage sales, bazaars with fancy work and handmade rugs, and the further handicraft like the plastic trays made from phonograph records, and handmade doll clothes and candies.

Or along the cultural line—organ recital, minstrel show, cookbook of local recipes, calendars of local birthdays and events, and the big Book Fair.

Well, anyway, any of these women who have served as chairman of ways and means could probably set right out to

That's one by-product that doesn't show up in the club treasury balance—the increased skills of its members. And another by-product is the closer ties of friendship among the members.

There's nothing so loosens the tongue and sets the confidences flowing as working together. While your hands are busy, there is no place for shyness or self-consciousness. And like the long, long thoughts you have while you're ironing, there is a wealth of philosophy exchanged over the quilting frame.

Everitt Class Dinner Party Is Success

Past history and present pleasures engrossed the members of the A. F. Everitt class of St. John's Lutheran church at their annual meeting held Wednesday night at Ada Green's Tourist home. There were 34 members and friends present for the turkey dinner served by Mrs. Green and her staff.

Mrs. Carl Albertson, teacher and president of the class, welcomed the guests and introduced the pastor, Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlson, who outlined the fall and winter activities at St. John's.

Mrs. W. E. Robinson read a history of the class which was organized in 1919 with A. F. Everitt as the first teacher. Three of the charter members: Mrs. Lucy Heller, Mrs. Eugene Hagerty and Mrs. Joseph E. Altomose were present for the dinner. Mr. Everitt served as teacher for 28 years, resigning in 1947 because of ill health, when Mrs. Albertson took over.

Following the dinner, the committee in charge: Mrs. Mary Blair, Mrs. Florence Buck, Mrs. Hilda Kitzman and Miss Frances Everitt took charge of the entertainment which included square dancing with Carl Götter as musician and Donald Reish as caller. A vote of thanks was given the committee for the success of the affair.

The next meeting of the class will be held Wednesday, December 5, at the home of the Brodell sisters, Main St.

The Girl Scout Council has decided to postpone the dedication of their new camp building at Camp Lloyd Treble, Mosier's Knob, until spring because of the uncertain weather.

LETTER TO EDITOR Cory Saylorburg, Pa.

Dear Editor:

Winter is coming and how about our poor men in Korea? They are fighting for our country and what do the big shots care? Nothing! No ammunition to protect themselves, so they lose their lives. They don't fight without it. We don't know how it is. My brother is serving with the 7th Division in Korea and he said the bullets come right in his foxhole beside him.

Send some of the big shots over and let them see how it is. They only want to sit and earn their money.

They don't care about our poor boys. They fight and freeze to death to protect our country and then they have to do it without ammunition.

Yours truly, Helen Tittle Saylorburg, Pa.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Upsets were a dime a two some during the past weekend and this column suffered with all the other men of questionable mental status who insist on attempting to pick the winners, although weekly we have our brains caved in. Last week's results found this writer coming up with 43 correct predictions and 17 of the wrong variety. The season's total for this column is 311 right guesses and 107 incorrect for a percentage of 74.4, five points lower than at this same time last week.

The number one game this weekend, as far as residents of Monroe county are concerned, is the scholastic battle at Nazareth, where East Stroudsburg High puts its title hopes on the line against a team that hasn't been beaten in 18 games, including 15 victories and three ties. However, this writer has one of the unexplainable hunches that the Cavaliers will break this long winning habit and go on to at least a tie for the Lehigh-Northampton league championship.

Stroudsburg High will be in search of victory number three tomorrow, when the Mountaineers stack up against Northampton, on the latter's home gridiron. From this angle it appears as if the charges of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis will bring home the bacon against one of the weakest Northampton teams in history. East Stroudsburg State Teachers College is at home with Ithaca College and the Warriors receive this column's nod, providing the club can come up with the same solid game it displayed against Cortland. However, one slip can cost the home eleven the ball game.

On the national scene it appears as if Alabama is set to roll up the score against Mississippi Southern, while Army accounts for its second win of the present campaign against The Citadel. Auburn will trip Mississippi, Boston University will edge Oregon and Brigham Young rates a slight choice over Utah State. Rutgers will nip Brown, California should trample Washington, while Lehigh takes the measure of Carnegie Tech by the narrowest of narrow margins. Clemson rates the edge over Boston College and undefeated Bucknell should continue its streak against Colgate.

College of Pacific will trip Utah Denver, Colorado will trip Utah and Colorado A. & M. is my choice to upend Montana. Columbia shouldn't have too much trouble with Dartmouth, and although Cornell has had more than its share of trouble of late, the Big Red receives the nod over an improving Michigan machine. Miami, of Ohio, should have enough strength to down Dayton, while Wake Forest nips Duke, in the battle of the south's two most unpredictable elevens.

Georgia rates over Florida, Furman will club Newberry, Georgia Tech will decision VMI and Princeton will run wild over Harvard. Holy Cross should trip Marquette, Washington State will humble Idaho, Illinois will roll over Iowa and it looks like Iowa State over Nebraska in a game featuring two teams that aren't going anywhere in a hurry. Kansas appears to have too much for Loyola, Delaware is in the same position in comparison with Lafayette and Louisiana State rates the nod over Vanderbilt.

Houston should topple Louisville, Maryland will thump Navy, Mississippi State should clip Memphis State and Miami, of Florida, looks like a sure thing against Chattanooga. Michigan State appears to have enough to take the measure of Notre Dame in one of the two top games on tomorrow's agenda. Minnesota is just a little too strong for Indiana, Oklahoma rates a slim vote over Missouri and Wyoming appears to be a touchdown or two better than New Mexico.

Northwestern looks stronger than Purdue, Cincinnati will trouble Ohio U., UCLA will decision Oregon State, Syracuse will just shade Penn State and Ohio State shouldn't have too much trouble with Pittsburgh. Arkansas, despite its in-and-out record, will triumph over Rice and my special choice for the day lists Stanford to nip Southern California in the battle of the undefeated. However, I'll undoubtedly be alone on this choice, as most of the experts have installed Southern Cal as a heavy favorite. Richmond shouldn't have too much trouble with Stetson, Arizona rates the nod over Tempe State, Temple should murder NYU and Tennessee will roll over Washington and Lee.

Texas will nip Baylor, Texas A. and M. appears strong enough to sidetrack Southern Methodist, Kentucky will top Tulane and Villanova shouldn't have much trouble with Detroit. North Carolina will edge Virginia, West Virginia should top South Carolina, William and Mary will follow up its victory over Penn with a verdict over Virginia Tech, while the Quakers bow to Wisconsin this week and Scranton defeats Muhlenberg. There it is — with another week-end of football certain to spring more than its share of upsets.

Eagles Acquire Strength For Title Dash

By Chuck Welsh

Philadelphia (AP) — Wabbling along far behind the championship pace of other years, the Philadelphia Eagles picked up some reinforcements yesterday, fullback Al Pollard from the New York Yanks and end Neill Armstrong, late of the Canadian Provincial league.

Pollard, ex-West Point star fullback, and Armstrong, long a fine pass catcher, both will be available for Sunday's make-or-break game against the Browns at Cleveland. For the Eagles, it's a case of either win or bow out of the current title chase.

Pay Fine

Armstrong jumped this season to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football league. To get back in the NFL's good graces he was fined $2,000. That was the same charge assessed against George Ratterman Monday when he was reinstated by Bell to play for the New York Yanks. In each case, Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football league said, the fine was "the limit", and was ordered after a hearing requested by the player.

Curstione opinion among the writers at the weekly Eagles press luncheon was that Armstrong would do well to earn enough in the remaining six games with the Eagles to pay his fine. Club officials declined to comment on that. Bell explained that Armstrong will have to pay all his fine this season since he will be playing under a contract option and has not signed a new agreement as did Ratterman before he was granted a deferred-payment plan.

Clemens' Cagers Rally To Win Biddy Basketball Loop Opener

A sparkling 19-point performance by Mark Newman failed to save the day for the Nash Ramblers last night as Clemens' Service Station scored a 25-21 victory in the opening game of the Biddy Basketball League season at the Monroe County YMCA.

Major League Crowds Drop Seven Per Cent

New York, (AP) — A total of 16,213,626 fans paid to see major league baseball games in 1951, a decline of seven per cent from 1950, according to unofficial figures.

Once again the world champion New York Yankees led with 1,951,464, followed by Cleveland's bulging 1,704,984. Five American League teams and three in the National — a total of half the majors — drew over the million mark. The old record was 983,403 in 1946 for a fifth place finish.

Both the Philadelphia A's and St. Louis Browns managed to better their 1950 figures, the A's with a 51 per cent gain to 465,369 and the Browns with a ten per cent advance to 293,770. Brooklyn's National League leading total of 1,329,431 and the New York Giants' 1,133,867 included the attendance at the three-game tie playoff series.

Thorpe To Undergo Surgery

Philadelphia, (AP) — Jim Thorpe, America's greatest athlete of the last 50 years, undergoes a delicate operation today for what a hospital spokesman described as a form of cancer of the skin.

Enters Hospital

The 63-year-old Indian, who also was voted the nation's number one football player and a member of the all-time all-America in Associated Press polls, entered Lakeland Hospital a few days ago when a sore on his lower lip failed to respond to ordinary treatment.

A hospital spokesman said yesterday there will be two or three delicate operations calling for plastic surgery. The spokesman said Jim will be in the hospital this time for about a week.

Northampton Picked Over Mountaineers

By Ben French

Harrisburg (AP) — Neighborhood scraps and intersectional battles spice this last big weekend of the 1951 Pennsylvania schoolboy football campaign.

It's the end of the schedule for most western teams although the season continues through Thanksgiving Day for the major teams in the central and eastern sections.

Bot the WPAL class "AA" and Western Conference races still have three unbeaten contenders eligible for the titles. A point system will choose the champions in case all win their finales.

Munhall, winner of nine straight games this season, already has concluded its schedule and is assured of meeting either Uniontown or Farrell in the title playoff game. Uniontown is favored over Lefebvre and Farrell over Sharon. If both win, Farrell is expected to get the playoff bid on the basis of the point system.

Conemaugh township, Bellwood-Antis and DuBois, each has an unbeaten record going into their final games. Conemaugh Township, which should win the title on points, is favored over Somerset as are Bellwood over Claysburg and DuBois over Punxsutawney. Skipping about the commonwealth, here are the choices for other top games (.784 correct for the season):

Westinghouse vs. Carick — the unbeaten Westinghouse Bulldogs are rated the best team in the west but only one-touchdown favorites over once-tied Carick in the battle for the Pittsburgh city title.

Altoona at Allentown — This west against east battle has turned in several previous surprises and although Altoona's once-beaten Canaries are heavy favorites the Altoona Mountain Lions are aiming for an upset.

Erie Strong Vincent at Lebanon — Another east-west contest with Lebanon's Cedars rating the edge by two touchdowns.

Harrisburg William Penn at Reading — Reading's once-beaten Red Knight are one of the top scoring teams in the state. They had one let-down against Williamsport but rate a ten-point choice over twice-beaten Penn.

Coal Township at Kulpmont — Once-beaten Coal Township needs to upset unbeaten Kulpmont to stay in contention for the eastern conference title it won last year. But Kulpmont looks too strong. Elsewhere across the state, the choices are:

West — Erie Cathedral prep to remain unbeaten against Buffalo Bishop Timon; Oil City over Franklin; Meadville over Erie. East: Waynesburg over Trinity; Bradford over Olean, N. Y.; Bedford over Berlin; Greensburg over Jeannette; Johnstown over New Castle.

East—Pottsville over Hazleton; Tamaqua over McAdoo; Jessup over Dickinson City; Easton over Allentown Central Catholic; Towanda over Tunkhannock; Pottstown over Bridgeport; Northampton over Stroudsburg; Lower Merion over Chester; unbeaten Ridley Twp. over Media.

First Perfect Season

Trenton, N. J. (AP) — Trenton State Teachers yesterday completed the first undefeated football season in the college's history by romping over Montclair State Teachers, 29-6.

Just two years ago Trenton beat Montclair to end an 11-year, 45-game losing streak. Since that time it has won 12 out of 13 games and its last eight in a row.

Berra Named Most Valuable Player In American Circuit

New York, (AP) — Yogi Berra emerged winner on a close ballot yesterday in the voting for most valuable player in the American League for 1951.

The squat New York Yankee catcher, who hit .294 in 141 games for the world champs, edged St. Louis' Ned Garver, 20-game winner for a last place club, by a slim 184-157 margin in points. A 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America did the voting.

"I'm very happy over it," said Berra by phone from his new ranch home at Woodcliff Lake, N. J., "boy, it was surprise. How'd it go?"

Berra was told he had six of 14 firsts. So did Garver and Allie Reynolds, his Yankee teammate who pitched two no-hitters for the pennant winners. Accumulation of points on the basis of 14 for first, nine for second and so on down to one for tenth gave Berra his first MVP award. Reynolds was third with 125 points.

"How about Gil MacDougald," Berra asked. He learned the Yankee's rookie second baseman-third baseman finished ninth with 63 points.

Berra wasn't the only person surprised at the result. It was a wide open race with 33 players getting votes and 15 others receiving honorable mention.

Yankees Dominate

Six of the first 12 positions went to Yanks with the writers apparently split among themselves on the job of singling out one valuable New Yorker.

Phil Rizzuto of the Yanks, the 1950 winner, was eleventh with 47 points and Ted Williams, MVP in 1949, was thirteenth with 35 points. Joe DiMaggio, a three-time winner, drew only four honorable mentions.

With 18 of the 24 firsts split among Berra, Garver and Reynolds, the best anybody else received was two for Boston's Ellis Kinder, durable relief worker who appeared in 63 games. One each went to Philadelphia's Ferris Fain, battling champ at 344; rookie Orestes "Minnie" Minoso of Chicago, and the Yanks' Rizzuto and Eddie Lopat.

The writers had a difficult time reaching a decision with pitchers getting more votes than usual. No less than three of the first five are pitchers.

Those areas are completely black out for any game under NCCA supervision tomorrow.

Commercial 'C' Rolls

Commercial "C" League keggers are listed for action at the Harmon alleys today, at 9:15 p. m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Lanterman's Funeral Home vs. Worthington Mower.
Alleys three and four—Kreamee Ice Cream vs. Nauman's Sporting Goods.
Alleys five and six—Cole's Drug Store vs. Regina Hotel.

Game Slated To Be Played In Afternoon

Mahlon Serfass, faculty athletic manager at Stroudsburg High school, announced last night that the Stroudsburg-Lehighton High football game scheduled to be played on Thanksgiving Day, has been advanced to the Saturday before, November 17. Final plans were completed yesterday.

The game, usually played Thanksgiving morning when held at Lehighton, will now feature the kickoff at 2 p. m.

In the past Lehighton has insisted playing on Thanksgiving, while the final meeting between the two schools, when played at Stroudsburg, is held on the Saturday before the November holiday, just as it will be this year.

Request

Lehighton requested the change in plans last week.

There was no official reason given for the switch, but it is believed that another organization wanted to use the Lehighton gridiron on Turkey day.

However, Serfass was careful to point out that the arrangements had been made for this year only and that no future developments in the series had been taken under discussion.

McNally Named Farm Director

Cleveland (AP) — The Cleveland Indians named Mike McNally last night to succeed Herold "Muddy" Ruel as the Tribe's farm director.

Ruel had resigned to accept a similar position with the Detroit Tigers.

Experience

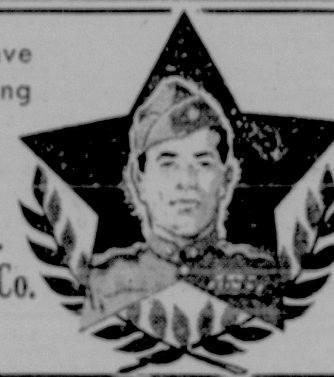

McNally, who was an infielder with the Boston Red Sox, the New York Yankees and the Washington "Nats", had been president of the Indians' farm team at Wilkes-Barre since 1941. The Eastern League club moved recently to Reading, Pa.

He had previously managed Eastern League teams at Binghamton and Williamsport.

Garroway -- More At Large Than On TV This Fall -- Victim Of Unusual Circumstances

By Lucia Ferrigno

Central Press Correspondent
Chicago — A little akin to the Perils of Pauline have been the trials of Dave Garroway, television's star of Garroway at Large who has been more at large than at television since spring.

Worshippers at the 16-inch screen have missed the horn-rimmed pundit from the autumn scene and in response to an avalanche of queries regarding the fate of his Sunday night show, Dave insists he is like the man whom some declared dead but who refuses to lie down.

Holder of a horde of awards for his unique show, he and his troupe — Connie Russell, Jack Haskell and Cliff Norton — are confident a top spot will be found for them soon. "Tain't sponsors but time trouble that has made the wonder boy a TV wallflower. The show found it necessary to double its budget. The sponsor wasn't prepared to take on the financial load and reluctantly withdrew from the picture.

NBC with a multi-thousand dollar production for Red Skelton in the offing made the next move — pushing Skelton into Garroway's Sunday night slot. Immediately the line formed to the right for would-be Garroway sponsors, many of whom had options on the show. One of them won the nod, and Dave packed his bags for a European junket. As he sailed, word came that his new time would be Wednesday nights, opposite CBS' weekly fight show.

Since only the bigger cities have more than one TV station, the others pick and choose shows from all the networks to program their lone station. Small station owners wanted Garroway—but they wanted him on kinescope. The fights, because they are spot news, are only worthwhile "live." NBC managed to clear 11 stations live for Garroway, and 45 more for the show on film.

The new sponsor could not take the show on kinescope because its heavy advertising program called for holiday plugging of its product. Kinescopes run several weeks late and the holiday commercials would appear when the holiday was but a memory.

So, this sponsor and several others are still in line waiting for NBC to clear time. Dave and company are waiting with bated breath for indications of time openings and to date, while there have been alarms, nothing has cleared.

Other networks have offered the ex-college prof their time and sponsors to boot, but NBC holds the Garroway contract and have nixed the offers. Rumors come oftener than rain that he may switch to a morning slot, even that its 7 to 9 a. m. show out of New York is earmarked for him, which has caused a furore in Philadelphia where Ernie Kovacs, a local favorite, would be forced off the air-janes.

Meanwhile the basic factors of the show, writer Charlie Andrews and Garroway himself are still together as are singers Russell and Haskell. They do a morning radio show for NBC.

Other members of the show would probably return to the fold. Bette Chapel is singing on the Art van Damme show in Chicago, comedian Cliff Norton has his own five-minute TV show, director Bill Hobin is camera director in New York for NBC's show of shows, choreographer Edith Barstow is dance director for Eddie Cantor and dancers Aura and Russell also are working on that show.

Pessimists seem to spot a trend in the fact that Garroway's show, which epitomized the so-called "Chicago style" of informal and inventive TV, is off this season. "This isn't true. Only the Garroway show, of all the Chicago productions, is off, and this due to a combination of curious and regrettable circumstances.

Jules Herbeux, in charge of NBC's TV activities in the Windy City points out that the network is going to spend more than $500,000 this autumn on a new studio for its Chicago headquarters.

"To me," opines Herbeux,

Tax Opponents Under Attack

Philadelphia (AP) — There must be more State taxes, and the few senators not convinced of that may change their minds when the State Assembly reconvenes, Gov. John S. Fine said yesterday.

He told a luncheon meeting of the Pennsylvania Consumer Finance association:

"You can deny a fact facing you for a long time, but eventually you have to admit that it's there."

Need for higher tax revenues is caused by the general increase in the cost of government and by an $800,000,000 indebtedness which his administration inherited, Fine said.

"This shows we aren't ready to mark off Chicago as a continuing source of big-time network entertainment."

Harry C. Kopf, NBC vice president and general manager of Chicago radio and TV operations, insists: "Because of the number of TV shows we are now producing or have in prospect, we have been bursting at the seams for lack of studio space. The new studio will relieve some of the pressure and give us a chance to expand."

"To which Kukla, Fran and Ollie add: 'Amen.' So do the gang at Stud's Place.

The four-county mid-Eastern Counties Association of Boroughs, including Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, will delve into assessment inequalities at an important meeting scheduled for November 28 at the VFW home in Palmerton.

Local boroughs will be represented at the conference to discuss a problem which is one of the major stumbling blocks to sound borough financing.

Frank A. Leidich, assistant superintendent of schools of Lehigh county and an expert on assessment inequalities and related problems, will be the speaker. Mr. Leidich was recently elevated Catasauqua borough council to the from the post of president of position of burgess.

The Mid-Eastern Association of Boroughs recently formed a special committee to delve into the assessment problems.

of November, December and January.

Most British homes lack central heating and depend on open coal fireplaces to ward off damp chill that prevails more than extreme low temperatures.

Under previous rationing, the average British family could get 3,584 pounds of coal a year and up to two long tons—4,480 pounds—of coke if it was available.

The country's household coal stockpile is 1,100,000 tons, or half of last year's.

Congressional Group Probes Katyn Massacre; Did Nazis Or Russians Slaughter Thousands

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(Central Press Correspondent)
Washington — A congressional committee has begun investigation of the Katyn massacre which resulted in the slaughtering of 4,000 to 11,000 Polish officers and their burial in mass graves.

The investigation of one of the most infamous of World War II atrocities has strong possibilities of international repercussions, because it may lead to the inescapable conclusion that it was committed by the Russians.

It is unusual in that an official United States government agency is investigating an event with which Americans have had only an indirect connection.

However, millions of Americans of Polish descent want the truth made public about what happened in the forest near Smolensk 11 years ago.

The murdered Polish officers were undoubtedly war prisoners captured by either the Germans or the Russians. The Polish government-in-exile declared in 1946 that they were prisoners captured by the Russians during the 1939 campaign.

When Germany sought an International Red Cross examination during the war of the mass graves, Russia denounced the move as an attempt to blame the Soviet Union for a Nazi-committed crime.

In any event, the International Red Cross did not visit the scene. Instead, in 1943, the Germans flew a group of American and British war prisoners to Katyn, over their objections, as a "Board of Inquiry."

The senior American officer was Lt. Col. John H. van Vliet, who is now in Tokyo. Van Vliet wrote a graphic account of what he saw. He told first how they were flown to Smolensk from their German POW camp and then how they were moved to the site of the massacre, about 12 miles distant.

"We were driven," Van Vliet stated, "to the site where there was a gate, guarded by young soldiers in Polish uniforms. A sickly-sweet odor of decaying bodies was everywhere. At the graves it was nearly overpowering."

"There were several graves. Prof. Herr Doktor Butz (Boetz?), a German expert in forensic medicine, was present, together with other technicians. Several Polish Red Cross workers were present. Civilian labor was being used to remove bodies from the graves."

"Each body was searched very carefully, examined, identified and reburied in a nearby mass grave which was to become a national shrine with suitable monuments," Van Vliet added. "The search of the bodies was very thorough, including removal of shoes or boots where it was possible. Sometimes the whole leg from the knee down came off with the boot."

"We followed our guide right into each of the graves, stepping on bodies that were piled like cordwood, face down usually, to a depth of about five to seven bodies covered with about five feet of earth."

"About 300 bodies were laid out beside one of the graves. These

Map shows how close Katyn is to the border.

All had their hands tied behind them with cord. The rest appeared not to have been tied. All bodies had a bullet hole in the back of the head near the neck with the exit wound of the bullet being in the forehead or front upper part of the skull."

Katyn is now in the Soviet Union. During the war, it was held first by the Russians, then by the Germans, and finally by the Russians again.

Who committed the ghastly crime? Van Vliet, in a report to the War department, stated: "I believe that the Russians did it. The rest of the group that visited the site stated to me that they believed that the Russians did it."

However, Van Vliet admitted that "there never was presented to me any single piece of evidence that could be taken as an absolute proof."

One of the things the committee will seek to determine is what became of the original Van Vliet report to the War department. It was marked "Top Secret," but the Defense department says it can not be found.

Van Vliet subsequently wrote a second account of his trip to Katyn on May 11, 1950.

The committee will launch public hearings in January. The group is headed by Rep. Ray J. Madden (D), Indiana, and he has been directed by the House to report its findings by Jan. 3, 1953.

One of the members, Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D), Pennsylvania, said the group will definitely arrive at a conclusion and will state whether it thinks the Germans or the Russians committed the atrocity.

Contest Prizes Awarded By Camera Club

The Pocono Camera club held a meeting Wednesday night at East Stroudsburg Junior High school. Prizes in contests sponsored for members of the club were awarded at that time.

The contests were divided into two major divisions — black-and-white prints on specific subject matter and color slides.

In the first of these two categories, Jesse Weiss captured first and second honors for black-and-white prints dealing with autumn. Third prize went to Irving Sommers.

Class "B" in the same category was taken by Guy Dean Jr. with Oliver Wilson second and Dean again placing with a third.

Autumn was also the subject matter for color slides entered in the second contest. In this division there was a three-way tie for first prize between slides entered by Sam Cioflo and Irving Sommers.

The next club meeting will be held Wednesday, November 14 at the Junior High school, East Stroudsburg. Plans have been made for a "model night" during that meeting. Members are urged to bring cameras and equipment with them to the meeting.

THIS RUBBER BALLOON, shown in Munich, Germany, loaded with its packet of messages of freedom and hope for people behind the Iron Curtain, is the type which will be demonstrated here at noon Saturday under auspices of Monroe County's Crusade for Freedom Committee.

The committee seeks 8,445 signatures of students and adults to Crusade for Freedom scrolls between now and November 16. Saturday's demonstration will be in front of the Penn-Stroud hotel.

Crusade For Freedom Seeks Signatures Of 8,445 Persons In County By Next Saturday

The Crusade for Freedom committee for Monroe County has embarked on its program of obtaining 8,445 signatures to the Crusade for Freedom scrolls. This effort will end November 16 when the committee also hopes to have raised funds to aid the Crusade for Freedom's program.

Signatures to the scroll enrolls the signer in the Crusade for Freedom for these reasons:

"I believe in individual liberty for every person on this earth—man, woman and child;

"I realize that many peoples in the world have lost their freedom; I appreciate my American birthright of freedom, with liberty and justice for all;

"Therefore, I join, and will ask others to join with millions of fellow Americans in support of the Crusade for Freedom—which sends out messages of Truth and Hope to the oppressed peoples behind the Iron Curtain."

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who formerly directed American occupation forces in Berlin and there dealt with Iron Curtain forces and the refugees from behind the curtain, is general chairman of Crusade for Freedom.

This non-governmental agency maintains Radio Free Europe which is reaching people in Russia dominated nations with an American propaganda and aid program. Many evidences have been received that slaves of Communists in many countries are receiving and are buoyed by these messages.

Saturday at noon launching of Crusade for Freedom balloons will be demonstrated, starting at noon, in front of the Penn-Stroud hotel.

A Freedom motorcade will show how these balloons are launched from points near the Iron Curtain border after they are filled with packets of messages of truth and hope for the Communist-dominated peoples.

The rubber balloons burst at 30,000 feet after winds carry them into Russian dominated nations, scattering their messages on the winds.

Most effective use has been made of the Freedom balloons in launchings from Munich, Germany to reach people of Czechoslovakia, behind the Iron Curtain.

Whittier Inspired

When John Greenleaf Whittier wrote, "Thank God, for the token! one lip is still free—Like the oak of the mountain, deep-rooted and firm, Erect, when the multitude bends to the storm; When traitors to Freedom, and Honor and God, Are bow'd at an idol polluted with blood; When the recreant North has forgotten her trust, And the lip of her honor is low in the dust,—Thank God, that one man from the shackle has broken! Thank God, that one man as a freeman, has spoken!"—he referred to Governor Joseph Ritner, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Business News
In Monroe Area

The Sears, Roebuck and Co., store in Stroudsburg, a part of the Wyckoff-Sears operation, has won the 65th Anniversary sales contest staged recently as a part of the observance of the 65th anniversary of the founding of Sears, Roebuck and Co.

The local store ran ahead of some 208 stores in its "B-2" classification with the greatest increase over quota of any of these stores in the entire Eastern Territory of Sears.

Stroudsburg store had a 42.2 percent increase over quota.

The store is managed by C. Henry Kresge, Stroudsburg with James Somers, Stroudsburg as assistant manager. A letter of congratulations complimenting both officials has been received from L. H. Beers, zone manager for Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Staff of the local store is now pushing plans to win some of the awards in the national contest scheduled by Sears. This contest is similarly known as Parade of Progress Contest and is again staged as part of the 65th Anniversary observance.

First Sears store was located in a railroad station at North Redwood, Minn back in 1886. There, Richard W. Sears, seeking to supplement his pay as station agent, began selling watches to fellow agents.

From this humble beginning the firm has grown to 11 mail order plants, 665 retail stores in 47 states and four Latin American countries.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, serving Monroe County, reported yesterday that economic activity in the district continued buoyant. Most major business and banking indexes showed gains for the month with construction and department store sales lagging.

Production of Pennsylvania manufacturing plants increased for the first time in six months, bringing a natural increase in payrolls. A longer work week was also involved.

Repayments exceeded new loans made in the four weeks to October 21 and total loans declined $8 million. Nation's privately owned money supply increase by almost $1 billion, bringing expansion for the past three months above $3 billion. The rise in the private money supply in the third quarter was larger than for the comparable period of any other post-war year.

The Vacation Industry here is looking with more than ordinary interest at plans of The International Air Transport Association to introduce tourist fares on all key world routes. Mass air transportation will begin early in 1952. Such fares, naturally, would attract millions rather than thousands of passengers on the principal world routes.

Capital Airlines is getting ready to handle this rush and at the same time handle present peak airloads. They are installing a new machine at Washington National Airport which will make it as easy to buy a plane ticket to far-away places of the world as it is to buy a theatre ticket.

County YMCA To Participate
In Centennial Celebration
Of National Organization

Members, officers, directors and trustees of Monroe County YMCA will participate in the 100th anniversary of the Young Men's Christian association starting next Monday and concluding with a centennial rally at Lehigh high auditorium, Bethlehem at 7 p. m. November 19.

John R. Wilson, general secretary of the YMCA, said the local organization was founded here 38 years ago. The first Y in North America was established in Montreal in 1851 and two months later another was founded in Boston, Mass.

Dr. Charles C. Noble, Syracuse University, outstanding YMCA and youth speaker, will address the rally of Y men from Monroe, Pike, Northampton, Carbon, Berks, Lehigh and Schuylkill counties on November 19.

The local Y carries out the well-known Y program of providing youth with social, physical, spiritual and good citizenship programs.

To further current efforts along these lines the local Y has retained Samuel Russell, Stroudsburg High school instructor and head coach of basketball at Stroudsburg, to direct the activities of 19 different youth clubs throughout Monroe county.

Senior Class To Present Play Nov. 16

Pocahontas — On November 16, the Senior class of Tobyhanna Township High school will present a three-act play entitled "No Boys Allowed."

The cast includes: Mr. Midnight, played by Norman Lewis; Rita Baxter, Jean Franks; Jane Baxter, Effie Schadler; Victoria, Joyce Altomero; Fred Dana, Harry Eberhart; Leroy Doyle, Nelson Deubler; Edwina Cook, Phyllis Keiper; Belinda Elliot, June Elwine; Nada Owens, Nancy Smith; Patsy Farrell, Martha French; O'Brien, Bill Elwine; Keith Garland, Donald Judge; Harvey Smith, Delbert Heller; Mrs. Dana, Elva Keiper.

The adviser is Mrs. Knorr. A brief synopsis follows: Fred, who is on the outs with Rita, breaks in on Rita's slumber party, which is strictly a "no boys allowed" affair. So the girls call upon Keith and Harvey to guard them against further intrusion from the boys. However a real prowler, Mr. Midnight, makes his appearance and it's hard to tell who is scared the most—the girls or the boys. In the end, Fred captures the midnight prowler with a flying tackle

Joint Meeting Of POS of A Set Monday

Dale H. Learn, state conductor of the POS of A, announced last night that a county-wide meeting of all Camps of the order in Monroe and Pike counties will be held Monday, Nov. 12, at 8 p.m. in the POS of A hall at 22 S. Sixth St., Stroudsburg. Mr. Learn said that the purpose of the conference is two-fold.

One purpose is to work out all plans and details for the North-eastern Pennsylvania Anti-Communist rally to be held Nov. 26 at the East Stroudsburg Junior High school auditorium. At this rally the principal address will be delivered by Col. William F. Heimlich of Berlin, Germany. Colonel Heimlich served nearly six years on the staff of Gen. Lucius Clay in Berlin, and he knows the plans and program of the Communist party as few people know them in America.

At this time also, all 14 winners of the essay contest held last Spring in the county high schools on the subject "What America Means To Me", will be especially honored. The four county-wide winners out of the 14 will receive their special awards.

Music for the rally will be furnished by the Tannersville male quartet composed of Walter H. Sebring, H. Monroe Granacher, James Werkheiser and Clifford Werkheiser, with Edward Gerhard Jr. at the piano. Mr. Learn said that the general public is invited to the anti-Communist rally.

Another purpose of the conference Monday night is to participate in the county-wide game tournament now going on in all camps of the order throughout Monroe and Pike counties. There is a spirited contest among the several teams from the various camps. Committees of 15 from each camp in this region are participating in the contest. During the winter months the winners will be announced and special

Newfoundland Gives Edge To Republicans

Newfoundland—With one exception, Republican candidates in both local districts gained sizeable margins over their Democratic rivals in unofficial returns of Tuesday's election.

GOP superiority in Dreher township, Wayne county, was registered in a 5 to 1 ratio while in Greene township, Pike county, Republican voters gave their nominees a 2 1/2 to 1 edge.

The lone exception was in the county commissioner race in Wayne county where Russell Frey, South Sterling funeral director, bested his Republican and Democratic opponents by a wide margin. Frey got 260 votes to 178 for J. Thomas Wilcox (R), 85 for Clayton R. Case (R) and 16 for Joseph McGinnis (D).

Frey won the minority commissioner post over McGinnis in unofficial county returns with a plurality of 538 votes.

In Greene township, the most spirited fight was for the post of supervisor, Howard Cross (R) topped George Rarick (D), 258 to 112.

Voters in both districts turned out in good numbers for an off-year election. Dreher, with a total registration of 382, cast 311 ballots while in Greene township 384 voted out of a total of 520 registered.

New National Disease Noted

Washington (AP)—A new national disease called tenique was reported yesterday. It's something almost any motorist may catch once he gets on the highway.

Tenique is a made-up word—from tension and fatigue.

And L. S. Harris, executive secretary for the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administration, thinks it may be the answer why, any day now, this nation will have its 1,000,000th traffic fatality.

Harris explained his views in a news release and an interview.

"World affairs, economic strains and the general tempo of modern living tend to keep nerves at an angry tension," Harris said.

In the past, he believes, there has been a tendency to say that accidents are caused by a driver who is negligent and indifferent to the rights of others.

Actually, Harris says, it may be that the poor fellow is pooped.

Or, in more elegant words:

Fatigue has been largely overlooked in our search for an answer to our tragic toll of deaths and injuries in highway travel.

The combination of tension and fatigue shows up in unsteadiness, a lack of hand and eye coordination, slowness in mental observations and in slow reactions.

All of which adds up to accidents.
